National Institute on Aging (NIA) is the primary Federal agency supporting and conducting Alzheimer's disease research. The Institute also supports much work on cognitive health and related dementias. Visit the website to see the listings of some of the NIA-supported research findings about cognitive health, Alzheimer's disease, and related dementias from the last ten years. Advances such as these continue to push researchers ever closer to one day discovering how the world can effectively prevent and treat dementia.
