The Healthy Generations Area Agency on Aging (HGAAA) Mobility Options program, funded in part by the Virginia Department of Rail and Public Transportation, provides transportation education, works to improve transportation accessibility for older adults and individuals with disabilities by educating the community, removing barriers, and expanding options. Mobility Options offers transportation information and referral services, a comprehensive transportation resource guide, complimentary travel training instruction, and door-to-door demand response transportation based on driver availability.

Limited door-to-door transportation to individuals with disabilities and senior citizens in Fredericksburg is available.
